MUSCAT: Infoline, the leading IT and ITES organisation in Oman, has recently added IT training solutions to their comprehensive range of service offerings.

Being a Microsoft Gold Certified Partner and a Microsoft Certified Partner for Learning Solutions, Infoline's training division has launched a complete suite of Microsoft IT Training solutions and services.

The training division of Infoline diversifies its service offerings with Microsoft Technological Trainings and Certifications based on the Microsoft official curriculum. As an upcoming industry leader in providing technology-training solutions, Infoline has a dedicated state-of-the-art training centre in Al Khuwair, equipped with the high-tech infrastructure, modern laboratories and classrooms, where customers/clients are trained on several Microsoft technologies.

"After our consistent success in offering value based services to our customers, we have decided to move ahead the value chain and harness our technological and training expertise to offer a truly rewarding and knowledge enriched experience to our clients," said Sameer Gupta, executive vice-president, Infoline.

"Enabling employees and building a pool of employable and industry-ready professionals is the core focus of Infoline," he added.

"Infoline has an extensive experience in IT space and the training business and as a result has an in-depth understanding of a customer's needs when they are developing their training plans. For Microsoft, it is vital to have specialised training partners like Infoline, as we can trust in them to offer our courses at a high quality through experienced instructors in our technologies via the authorised training model," says Wael Abdel Aziz, partners strategy and programme manager Microsoft - Middle East.

Infoline's Microsoft Training programmes support the primary objective of organisations and IT professionals to drive stronger alignment between technology, investments and business goals. The company's expertise in areas like strategic consulting, learning design, customised content, off-the-shelf content (e-learning), professional delivery, hi-end technology training, testing and assessment and learning management ensures a cost effective and efficient training solution.

Microsoft Certification is the premier credential of IT professionals worldwide available for a diverse spectrum of job roles and responsibilities, their certifications validate candidates' ability.
